

The Department of Polymer Engineering and Science covers all aspects of polymer research from chemistry of polymers, polymer physics and testing, processing and design. Specifically, actual trends like biopolymers, smart production and additive manufacturing, lightweight design, durability and recycling of polymers is covered in Education and Research.

The chairs of the department

From the raw material

To the finished product

Sustainability and Recycling

